

Community Profile: Gisborne District

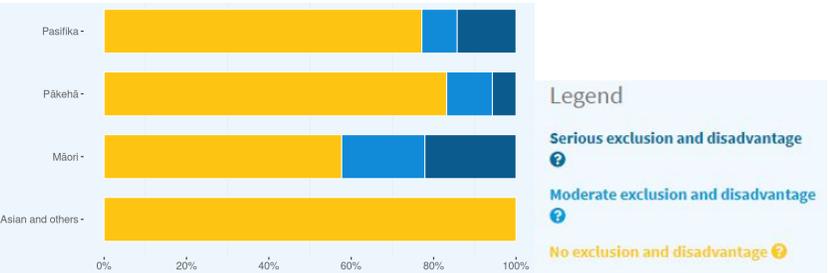

Ethnicity	% across all ages (2018)
European	58.1
Māori	52.9
Pacific	4.5
Asian	2.8
Other	1.3

As of 2018, 20% of young people aged 10-24 years live in Gisborne District

As of 2020, 34% of 12-25 year olds were excluded and disadvantaged, half of which fell into 'serious exclusion and disadvantage' while the other half fell into the 'moderate' category. As age increases, young people are more likely to face exclusion and disadvantage. These rates are about the same for males and females.

Exclusion and Disadvantage is measured across three areas: Care and Protection and Justice Systems; Education and Employment

Serious exclusion and disadvantage - young people experiencing this across all three areas
Moderate exclusion and disadvantage - young people experiencing this across two areas, including one high level interaction
No exclusion and disadvantage - who do not fall in the above two categories, but still may have had an isolated interaction with the police or been stood down from school

Below are some key data of the of rangatahi living in Gisborne District aged between 12 and 25 years.

Cultural Identity

- 93% Agree that it is easy to be myself
- 54% Māori agree that Māori culture is important to them
- 54% Māori have explored their whakapapa in the past 12 months

Social Connections

- 26% Don't have enough contact with family
- 16% Don't have enough contact with friends

Wellbeing

- 35% High family wellbeing
- 21% Low family wellbeing

Housing

- 64% Live in a deprived neighbourhood
- 12% Live in an affluent neighbourhood

37% Agree that diversity defines NZ

54% Agree that Māori culture defines NZ

29% Māori use Te Reo Māori regularly at home

7% Felt lonely most or all the time

57% No driver's license

28% High overall life satisfaction

12% Low overall life satisfaction

This data is based primarily on the Vodafone Thriving Rangatahi Project (2020) and the 2018 Census

The Thriving Rangatahi data explorer is based on data from the Integrated Data Infrastructure (IDI), managed by StatsNZ. The IDI includes data sources from surveys such as Te Kupenga and the General Social Survey, along with administrative data from government agencies and departments.
<https://foundation.vodafone.co.nz/thriving-rangatahi-population-explorer/>